With more than 40 years in Kansas City, Mr. Sherman has been an entrepreneur, civic leader, and philanthropist who is extensively involved in the business, civic, and philanthropic communities in the Kansas City region.

Prior to his purchase of the Royals, Mr. Sherman served as a Vice Chairman and minority ownership partner of the Cleveland Indians, beginning on August 19, 2016. Mr. Sherman later founded Inergy L.P., which went public in 2001. He led Inergy through a period of tremendous growth, merging it with Crestwood Holdings in 2013, and continues to serve on the board of (now) Crestwood Equity Partners (NYSE: CEQP).

Mr. Sherman was recognized as an Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year in 2002 and later inducted into the 2014 inaugural class of the University of Missouri-Kansas City (UMKC) Bloch School of Business Entrepreneurs Hall of Fame with a group that included Ewing Kauffman – the original owner of the Royals – and Lamar Hunt, a founder of the American Football League (AFL) and original owner of the Kansas City Chiefs.

KEVIN UHLICH

SENIOR VP-BUSINESS OPERATIONS

Kevin Uhlich is in his 14th season in Kansas City after being named the Royals Senior Vice President-Business Operations on Nov. 7, 2006. Uhlich has 43 years of professional baseball experience which started as a batboy for the then, California Angels in 1976. Uhlich oversees the entire business side of the Royals' organization and specifically spearheaded the $275M renovation of Kauffman Stadium, which was completed for the 2009 season. Uhlich also led the complete renovation of the Royals winter home in Surprise, Ariz. which was finished in February. 2016.

Uhlich was in charge of the club's efforts to secure the 83rd Major League Baseball All-Star Game played in Kansas City in 2012. He was also instrumental in leading the planning efforts during the 2014 and 2015 postseasons, including the first World Series games played at Kauffman Stadium in over 29 years.

He came to the Royals after serving as Executive Vice President for the Washington Nationals during their start-up in 2005 and 2006. He joined the Nationals' organization as their first Executive Vice President of Business as the club made the historic move from Montreal to Washington, D.C., prior to the 2005 season. He was tasked with assembling the club's entire business organization in just 45 days while also supervising an $8M renovation of RFK Stadium leading up to the inaugural game. During the first two years, while the club was owned by Major League Baseball, Uhlich continued to lead the business efforts as the Nationals transitioned to the new Lerner family ownership group. During his tenure in Washington, he also was instrumental in the design and planning for the $611M Nationals Park in Washington, D.C., which opened prior to the 2008 season.

Uhlich spent his first 28 seasons in the Los Angeles Angels' organization learning the business from the ground up. Starting in the Angels Clubhouse at the age of 19 and then moving to the front office as an assistant in the Stadium Operations department in 1981. Uhlich continued to ascend the corporate ladder while serving in various roles as Vice President of Stadium Operations and Vice President of Sales, Marketing and Operations.

When the Walt Disney Company purchased the Angels organization from Gene Autry in 1996, Uhlich was tabbed to direct the $140M renovation of Anaheim Stadium on behalf of Disney Sports Inc.; a move that would eventually define his career. Upon the completion of the renovation in 1998, Uhlich was again asked to take the reins of the entire Angels business organization for Disney Sports. It was during this time Uhlich led the effort to overhaul the Angels' brand identity to become southern California's only "red team"; a branding strategy which more than two decades later still dominates the geographic area and has become symbolic of the Angels brand. He was ultimately named the club's Senior Vice President of Business Operations in 2002; the same season the Angels won their first World Series title.

Uhlich currently serves as a Board Member for Starlight Theater in Kansas City and shares a love for the Arts with his entire family.

A native of Anaheim, California, Uhlich and his wife, Juanita, have twin boys, Chase and Cody, and a daughter, Katie. They reside in Overland Park, Kan.

DAYTON MOORE

SENIOR VP-BASEBALL OPERATIONS/GENERAL MANAGER

Dayton Moore is in his 14th full season with the Kansas City Royals in 2020 after being named Senior Vice President-Baseball Operations/General Manager on May 30, 2006. He officially assumed his duties, becoming the sixth general manager in franchise history, on June 8, 2006.

From day one, the goal Moore set out to accomplish was bringing a World Championship back to Kansas City, a dream that was brought to fruition in 2015. The Royals bested the New York Mets in five games to win the franchise's first World Series in 30 years. The club became just the fourth since 1997 to reach the World Series in back-to-back seasons after falling to the San Francisco Giants in the 2014 Fall Classic.

The 2019 season featured several individual accomplishments at the Major League level as Jorge Soler became the second player to break the franchise's home run record in the last three seasons, slugging a career-high 48 of them. Whit Merrifield led the Major Leagues in hits for the second-straight season, with 206, which were the most by a Royal since 2000. At the minor league level, four of Kansas City's affiliates were crowned champions of their respective leagues, while a fifth finished as a runner-up after advancing to the championship round. The Royals became the first organization to have five affiliates qualify for their league championship series in Major League history and the first to have four win championships since the Cleveland Indians in 2004.

Moore's tenure in Kansas City has been one of the most successful runs in franchise history as the Royals have boasted 18 Rawlings Gold Glove Awards, 29 All-Star Game selections, five Silver Sluggers and a Cy Young Award winner. Since he took over as general manager in 2006, no Major League club has earned more Rawlings Gold Gloves, while KC's run of nine-straight years with at least one Gold Glove winner is the longest active streak in the American League and second longest in the Majors, behind Colorado's 10.

The 2015 season was one for the ages as Kansas City stormed to their first AL Central Division title, winning an American League-best 95 games, their highest total since 1980. club became just the second in Major League history to improve its win total in six-straight seasons. Along the way, the Royals set records in attendance, drawing 2.7 million fans to their 81 home games; local television viewership, recording an MLB-best 12.3 household rating during the 2015 season; and All-Star Game selections, sending seven players to the Midsummer Classic, which included four players who were selected as starters.

Moore has received several accolades over the last six years, being named to the Kansas Baseball Hall of Fame and the Kansan of the Year in 2014. He has also been tabbed "Executive of the Year" by Major League Baseball (GIBBY Awards) in both 2014 and 2015 and earned the same distinction from the Kansas City Sports Commission in 2015. He was also recognized by the Boys & Girls Club with the John J. "Buck" O'Neil Diamond MVP Award as well as the Negro League Baseball Museum's Rube Foster Award for AL Executive of the Year in 2015.

In 2016, Moore had the honor of being the featured speaker at the National Prayer Breakfast Leadership Luncheon in Washington, D.C. The National Prayer Breakfast is a series of meetings, luncheons and dinners, established in 1953 under Kansas native, President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Under the direction of Moore, the Kansas City MLB Urban Youth Academy officially opened in 2017. While being viewed as a model for youth baseball and softball development, the $21M facility is a center for character development and educational advancement for our Community's urban youth. Using a focused intent on treating the Academy as an extension of the Royals minor league system, Moore's vision of providing kids the opportunity to develop "The Royals Way" is also fostering a culture that eliminates economic and social barriers in the City.

BASEBALL OPERATIONS

A leader in the Kansas City community, Moore is also a regular speaker at numerous community events each year. In 2013, Moore started the "C" You In the Major Leagues Foundation. It was created to support youth baseball, education, families in crisis and faith-based programs and organizations. The foundation's mission is to provide hope and support to children and families by using youth baseball to develop future character-driven leaders. With that in mind, Moore started the "C" You at 'The K' program in 2016, bringing high school students from six local youth organizations — the KCMO Police Athletic League, Ozanam, Boys Hope Girls Hope of Kansas City, the Guadalupe Center, and the two area RBI programs — for a special evening at Kauffman Stadium, including a character-based leadership discussion with the students. Some of the other organizations that have benefited from "C" You In the Major Leagues are the Jewish Community Center, Higher M-Pact, National Center for Fathering, and the City Union Mission. Following the 2014 season, Moore wrote a book, "More Than a Season" (updated in 2016), with all of the author proceeds going to "C" You In the Major Leagues.

Moore, a native of Wichita, Kan., brought an impressive resume to the Royals in 2006, having previously worked for the Atlanta Braves' organization during their run of 14-straight division titles.

With Atlanta, Moore served three years as Director of Player Personnel, beginning in 2002. He originally joined the Braves' organization as an area scouting supervisor and was promoted to the front office in August, 1996 as an assistant in the baseball operations department.

Before joining the Braves, Moore served as an assistant baseball coach at his alma mater, George Mason University (1990-94). He received a bachelor's degree (1989) and a master's degree (1992) from GMU.

Moore and his wife, Marianne, reside in Leawood, Kan., and have two daughters, Ashley and Avery, and a son, Robert.

PETS OF DISTINCTION

The Pets of Distinction project with the Arkansas CW follows the efforts of local pet groups making an impact on our community here in Northwest Arkansas. These stories and articles follow two groups: Service Dogs of Distinction which is a nonprofit group that takes highly trained adopted shelter dogs and matches them with local veterans, and Helping Paws of NWA which is a therapy dog group that visits many locations in NWA including airports, hospitals, schools and libraries.

SERVICE DOGS OF DISTINCTION

The Arkansas CW has been following along for the past year with "Service Dogs of Distinction" which is a non-profit organization with the goal of providing quality service dogs to veterans with PTSD, TB or related illness. This organization searches for rescued dogs that will fit their program from local animal shelters, donations and rescue organizations. After basic dog training they are paired up with a veteran and on go training as a team for at least 12 months or until they graduate from the program. Blue Buffalo is sponsoring this incredible organization and promotional project by giving donations of treats and food to each veteran to aid with life with their new companions.

PETS ON SET

Pets on set is a 40/29 Weekend News feature that showcases a new adoptable cat or dog from the Washington County Animal Shelter each week. Hundreds of animals have been rescued through this initiative, with adoption rates of the animals featured reaching 100%. 40/29 is proud to have Blue Buffalo as the sponsor for the 2020 Pets on Set initiative. Blue Buffalo generously covers the adoption fees of all pets presented on the feature, which greatly increases the opportunity to get these animals out of shelters and into loving homes.

INDICATION AND IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION WHAT IS VASCEPA?

VASCEPA is a prescription medicine used:

- along with certain medicines (statins) to reduce the risk of heart attack, stroke and certain types of heart issues requiring hospitalization in adults with heart (cardiovascular) disease, or diabetes and 2 or more additional risk factors for heart disease.
- along with a low-fat and low-cholesterol diet to lower high levels of triglycerides (fats) in adults.

It is not known if VASCEPA changes your risk of having inflammation of your pancreas (pancreatitis).

It is not known if VASCEPA is safe and effective in children.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION WHO SHOULD NOT TAKE VASCEPA?

• Do not take VASCEPA if you are allergic to icosapent ethyl or any of the ingredients in VASCEPA.

WHAT ARE THE POSSIBLE SIDE EFFECTS OF VASCEPA?

VASCEPA may cause serious side effects, including:

- Heart rhythm problems (atrial fibrillation and atrial flutter). Heart rhythm problems which can be serious and cause hospitalization have happened in people who take VASCEPA, especially in people who have heart (cardiovascular) disease or diabetes with a risk factor for heart (cardiovascular) disease, or who have had heart rhythm problems in the past. Tell your doctor if you get any symptoms of heart rhythm problems such as feeling as if your heart is beating fast and irregular, lightheadedness, dizziness, shortness of breath, chest discomfort or you faint.
- Possible allergic reactions if you are allergic to fish or shellfish. Stop taking VASCEPA and tell your doctor right away or get emergency medical help if you have any signs or symptoms of an allergic reaction.
- Bleeding. Serious bleeding can happen in people who take VASCEPA. Your risk of bleeding may increase if you are also taking a blood thinner medicine.

Celebrate 25% risk reduction* with VASCEPA®

*In a study, patients treated with VASCEPA had fewer cardiovascular events (17.2%) compared to those who took placebo (22%).

Taking statins, exercising, and eating right can lower your risk of a heart attack or stroke, but not as much as you may think. Prescription VASCEPA can also reduce your risk.

VASCEPA is clinically proven to offer 25% less risk from heart attack and stroke when added to a statin.

Ask your doctor about VASCEPA today.

If you have liver problems and are taking VASCEPA, your doctor should do blood tests during treatment.

The most common side effects of VASCEPA include:

- Muscle and joint pain
- Swelling of the hands, legs, or feet
- Constipation
- Gout
- Heart rhythm problems (atrial fibrillation)

These are not all the possible side effects of VASCEPA. Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects.

You may report adverse events (i.e. side effects) or product complaints by calling 1-855-VASCEPA (1-855-827-2371), emailing AmarinMl@druginfo.com, or calling the FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

Tell your doctor if you take medicines that affect your blood clotting (anticoagulants or blood thinners).

Please see next page for Patient Information or call 1-855-VASCEPA (1-855-827-2372).

Commercially insured patients can pay as little as $9 for a 90-day supply.

PATIENT INFORMATION VASCEPA® (pronounced vas-EE-puh) (icosapent ethyl) capsules

What is VASCEPA?

VASCEPA is a prescription medicine used along with certain medicines (statins) to reduce the risk of heart attack, stroke, and certain types of heart issues requiring hospitalization in adults with heart (cardiovascular) disease, or diabetes and 2 or more additional risk factors for heart disease. It's also used along with a low-fat and low-cholesterol diet to lower high levels of triglycerides (fats) in adults.

It is not known if VASCEPA changes your risk of having inflammation of your pancreas (pancreatitis).

It is not known if VASCEPA is safe and effective in children.

Do not take VASCEPA if you are allergic to icosapent ethyl or any of the ingredients in VASCEPA. See the end of this summary for a complete list of ingredients in VASCEPA.

Before taking VASCEPA, tell your doctor about all of your medical conditions, including if you:

- have diabetes.
- have a low thyroid problem (hypothyroidism).
- · have a liver problem.
- have a pancreas problem.
- are allergic to fish or shellfish. It is not known if people who are allergic to fish or shellfish are also allergic to VASCEPA.
- are pregnant, or planning to become pregnant. It is not known if VASCEPA will harm your unborn baby.
- are breastfeeding or plan to breastfeed. VASCEPA can pass into your breast milk, and may harm your baby. Talk to your doctor about the best way to feed your baby if you take VASCEPA.

Tell your doctor about all the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and dietary or herbal supplements.

VASCEPA can interact with certain other medicines that you are taking.

Especially tell your doctor if you take medicines that affect your blood clotting (anticoagulants or blood thinners).

How should I take VASCEPA?

- · Take VASCEPA exactly as your doctor tells you to take it.
- Do not change your dose or stop taking VASCEPA without talking to your doctor.
- Do not take more capsules than what is prescribed by your doctor.
 - If you are prescribed the 0.5 gram capsules, you should not take more than 8 capsules each day with food.
 - If you are prescribed the 1 gram capsules, you should not take more than 4 capsules each day with food.
- Take VASCEPA capsules whole. Do not break, crush, dissolve, or chew VASCEPA capsules before swallowing.
- If you miss a dose of VASCEPA, take it as soon as you remember. However, if you miss one day of VASCEPA, do not double your dose when you take it.
- Your doctor may start you on a diet that is low in saturated fat, cholesterol, carbohydrates, and low in added sugars before giving you VASCEPA. Stay on this diet while taking VASCEPA.
- Your doctor may do blood tests to check your triglyceride and other lipid levels while you take VASCEPA.

What are the possible side effects of VASCEPA? VASCEPA may cause serious side effects, including:

- Heart rhythm problems (atrial fibrillation and atrial flutter). Heart rhythm problems which can be serious and cause hospitalization have happened in people who take VASCEPA, especially in people who have heart (cardiovascular) disease or diabetes with a risk factor for heart (cardiovascular) disease, or who have had heart rhythm problems in the past. Tell your doctor if you get any symptoms of heart rhythm problems such as feeling as if your heart is beating fast and irregular, lightheadedness, dizziness, shortness of breath, chest discomfort, or you faint.
- Possible allergic reactions if you are allergic to fish or shellfish. Stop taking VASCEPA and tell your doctor right away or get emergency medical help if you have any signs or symptoms of an allergic reaction.
- Bleeding. Serious bleeding can happen in people who take VASCEPA. Your risk of bleeding may increase if you are also taking a blood thinner medicine.

If you have liver problems and are taking VASCEPA, your doctor should do blood tests during treatment.

The most common side effects of VASCEPA include: muscle and joint pain; swelling of the hands, legs, or feet; constipation; gout; and heart rhythm problems (atrial fibrillation).

These are not all the possible side effects of VASCEPA. Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

How should I store VASCEPA?

- Store VASCEPA at room temperature between 68° to 77° F (20° to 25° C).
- Safely throw away medicine that is out of date or no longer needed.

Keep VASCEPA and all medicine out of the reach of children.

General information about the safe and effective use of VASCEPA. Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes other than those listed in a Patient Information leaflet. Do not use VASCEPA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give VASCEPA to other people, even if they have the same symptoms that you have. It may harm them. You can ask your pharmacist or healthcare provider for information about VASCEPA that is written for health professionals.

KANSAS CITY • MO

The Kansas City MLB Urban Youth Academy continues its mission to empower Kansas City's underserved youth through baseball and softball, as well as academic and social opportunities, to be the leaders of tomorrow. In its second year, the Academy served over 17,000 youth through various events and programs including the Sandlot League, Royals Youth Elite Training (YET) Program and the Raising Royals After-School Program.

SANDLOT LEAGUE

This year, the Sandlot League was split into two sessions: Spring Sandlot and Sandlot 2.0. The Spring Sandlot League served over 120 boys and girls, ages 6-9, and focused on the developmental basics of the game at three different levels – T-ball, coach pitch, and machine pitch. The program ran for eight weeks in April and May, with practices on Wednesdays and games on Fridays. The Spring Sandlot League was followed up by Sandlot 2.0, a six week instructional and developmental Fall program that continues the basic fundamentals of hitting, fielding and throwing with advanced instruction for youth ages 6-8.

2019 ROYALS SPRING TRAINING EXPERIENCE

The KCUYA hosted a group of athletes representing KCMO and Kansas RBI programs in Surprise, Arizona to attend Royals Spring Training. These student-athletes had access to Major League and Minor League coaching staffs in learning about the "Royal Way" through skill and personal development, participated in workouts with Minor League players and attended two Major League games to give them the full Spring Training experience.

URBAN YOUTH ACADEMY

YOUTH ELITE TRAINING (YET) PROGRAM

The Royals Youth Elite Training (YET) baseball and softball programs came back in full force in 2019 with a new Spring session, in addition to Fall. The YET program is designed to identify athletes who have the skills and desire to compete on a more competitive level. The Spring baseball session focused on a series of hitting, fielding and base running drills while the Fall session focused on individual positions, beginning with pitching and catching. The weekly softball sessions covered basic mechanics of the game, including offensive and defensive fundamentals. Over 300 boys and 100 girls participated in both sessions throughout the year.

RAISING ROYALS AFTER-SCHOOL PROGRAM

The Raising Royals program welcomed 3rd-5th grade scholar-athletes from 13 area schools for the 2019-2020 school year. The program runs from Monday-Thursday and provides the opportunity to grow the knowledge of baseball and softball while emphasizing the importance of character development, educational enrichment and physical wellness. Scholar-athletes also engage in daily activities, both educational and baseball/ softball-related, that provide measurable improvements of performance on and off the field including Science of Baseball lessons, monthly community service projects and enhancing interpersonal skills.

MLB ALL-STAR WEEK 2019

Major League Baseball hosted the 2nd annual Jennie Finch Classic and Commissioner's Cup in Cleveland, Ohio as part of the 2019 All-Star Week festivities. Both events are semi-competitive youth baseball and softball tournaments for Major League Baseball Youth Academies. The KCUYA selected 14 boys and 13 girls, ages 14-17, to represent the Academy and showcase their talent on the field. Throughout the week, participants had the opportunity to compete in games, and take in MLB All-Star Week events such as the Celebrity Softball game and Futures game, a first-time memorable experience for all of the student-athletes.

MLB BREAKTHROUGH SERIES

This year, the MLB Softball Breakthrough Series made its way to Kansas City for the first time. The event is designed to promote softball as a viable collegiate option for girls from underrepresented and underserved communities. The event is completely cost-free for participants, who are selected by invitation only. The program focuses on developing players on and off the field through seminars, mentorship, gameplay, scout evaluations, video coverage and the highest level of instruction. In all, 60 participants from the class of 2019, 2020 and 2021 were selected from all over the country through league nominations. These athletes had the opportunity to work with U.S. Olympians, former National Team members and coaches for three days of on and off-field instructions and scrimmages.

Matheny spent the 2019 season as a special advisor to player development, working with players in the lower levels of the Royals' organization, in what amounted to a year-long interview for another position, one that he'd succeeded in before: Major League manager.

During that run of success, Matheny managed 43 postseason games, which are the third most in the Majors since 2012, trailing former Houston manager AJ Hinch (50) and Dodgers' manager Dave Roberts (47).

Wanting to improve himself – both personally and professionally – Matheny has since taken the steps to rectify what he calls his "blind spots." Namely, his interactions with the media and his understanding of analytics. After leaving St. Louis, he worked with a media consultant and took a baseball analytics course with Sports Management Worldwide.

"[The media consultant] told me to smile more," Matheny said, ironically enough, with a smile.

He often defaulted to a stoic demeanor in his first managerial job, something he learned from managers he played for. Displaying too much emotion, he thought, might give an opponent an edge.

"And I think the other side of that is I was afraid I'd miss something," Matheny said. "I've always been a grinder. And I don't know how to smile my way through grinding."

The result was a "rigid façade" that didn't represent his true personality.

And despite his unprecedented success in St. Louis, Matheny was labeled an anti-analytics guy. But in reality, he's always had a thirst for more knowledge.

A NEW BEGINNING

"I always had a great appreciation for that," he said. "I wish I had that information when I was playing, with the blast-motion sensors, the Rapsodo, I had a whole lot going wrong with my swing. I would have loved for someone to give me some data. It's amazing. People who aren't using that are cutting themselves short."

Matheny was a catcher for 13 seasons in the big leagues for Milwaukee (1994-98), Toronto (1999), St. Louis (2000-04) and San Francisco (2005-06). He was a four-time Rawlings Gold Glove Award winner, and at one point held the Major League record with 252 consecutive errorless games and 1,565 straight errorless chances behind the plate.

That defensive prowess is something Royals fans are accustomed to, as Kansas City has set its single-season record for fewest errors in each of the last three years. In doing so, they've become the first time in Major League history to record 80 errors or fewer in three consecutive 162game seasons.

The last two years, however, have seen the Royals endure back-to-back 100-loss seasons, something Matheny is eager to rectify.

"I see something very, very special about to happen here," he said. "And I want to be a part of it."

Matheny's Royals debut was put on hold in March, when the COVID-19 outbreak suspended Spring Training and the start to the regular season.

When the Royals did reconvene at Kauffman Stadium in July, Matheny revealed that he battled the virus himself at one point during the three-and-a-half month layoff.

"I had a couple of tough weeks," he said. "It wasn't that big a deal where I had to go to the hospital. But I had about all of the symptoms except loss of smell and taste. The rest of them hit me and hung on longer than I thought they would. It was the lack of energy, the fever and the chills and all that stuff but mostly it was the lungs that really concerned me. I was worried that I wouldn't be able to breathe right again."

Matheny recovered from the virus in time to be reunited with his new team when baseball activities resumed. Luckily, he already knew most of the players quite well. The entire coaching staff, in fact, kept in touch during the shutdown with daily Zoom calls to stay connected with the players and their families.

several of the Royals' players in person.

One of those players was Alex Gordon, who had not yet officially confirmed his return to Kansas City for the 2020 season when Matheny was hired. But the new skipper's gesture certainly added to Gordon's desire to play again.

"THAT [MEANT] A LOT TO THE PLAYERS," SAID GORDON. "IT GETS YOU MOTIVATED TO PLAY WHEN YOUR MANAGER HAS THAT CARING AND THAT DRIVE TO BE BETTER."

The Royals experienced several individual triumphs last season, including Gordon's seventh Rawlings Gold Glove, Jorge Soler's franchiserecord 48 home runs, not to mention Whit Merrifield leading the Majors in hits in each of the last two seasons.

But now, the Royals are eager to achieve the team success that Matheny sustained during his six-plus years as manager in St. Louis.

"We're tired of losing," Merrifield said. "We want to win now."

Matheny hears that message, and he's eager to push this group of young Royals forward.

"The one word that keeps standing out to me is 'sustained," he said. "It's not just, 'Let's get back and have success.' It's how do we create sustained success?"

DICK HOWSER

MANAGER (1981-87)

CAREER HONORS

- · Inducted into Royals Hall of Fame and had number retired in 1987
- Managed Royals during 1985 World Series title season
- Ranks third in Royals history with 404 wins as manager
- Directed Royals to three division titles
- Guided KC to a 91-71 record in 1985, tied for sixth-most wins in franchise history
- ESPN Manager of the Year in 1984
- Named to 1961 All-Star Team as a player
- 1961 Sporting News Rookie of the Year
- Elected into the College Baseball Hall of Fame in 2008

Dick Howser managed the Royals from August 31, 1981 to February 23, 1987 before losing a courageous battle to cancer on June 17, 1987. During Howser's regime, the Royals won three division titles and a World Championship in 1985. His uniform number 10 was the first number retired by the Royals.

One of Major League Baseball's most successful and popular managers, he compiled a 404-365 record (.525) while skippering the Royals.

He guided the club in one of the most remarkable and endearing comebacks in Major League postseason history, defeating Toronto in the ALCS and St. Louis to win the 1985 World Series. His skills and ability to maneuver the lineup and roster played an important role in the club's success, as he capitalized on a strong starting pitching staff and maximized an offense that ranked 13th in average and runs scored.

Howser's World Series season was quite an encore for a manager who was named the ESPN Manager of the Year and finished second in the BBWAA Manager of the Year balloting in 1984. His 1984 club was hampered by injuries throughout the year as his starting lineup was together for only 50 of the 162 games. Despite the injuries, he guided the Royals from a sixth-place standing and a 40-51 record on July 18, to capture the AL West crown by compiling an astonishing 44-25 record over the last 10 weeks.

Overall, he compiled a 507-425 (.544) record at the big league level after guiding the New York Yankees to 103 wins in 1980, becoming just the fourth manager in baseball to win 100 games in his first year.

Howser began his professional career after twice earning All-America honors at Florida State. The 1961 The Sporting News Rookie of the Year with the Kansas City A's, he was a member of the 1961 All-Star team and enjoyed an eight-year Major League playing career.

PLAYOFF RECAP

The Royals took the New York Yankees to the ninth inning of the fifth and final game of the ALCS, before Chris Chambliss won it with a home run. The Yankees won the first game of the series, but the Royals responded by taking Game 2, 7-4 behind 5.2 innings of relief work by Paul Splittorff. The Royals dropped the first game back at Yankee Stadium, but with their backs against the wall, they won Game 4 in the Bronx, 7-4, defeating Jim Hunter, who was pitching on only three days rest.

Whitey Herzog congratulates first-time Gold Glove winners Frank White and Al Cowens.

The 1977 edition of the Royals won a club record 102 games en route to their second consecutive AL West title. The Royals got out of the gate slow and were as many as 7.5 games out of first in early June. After entering the All-Star break in second place, the club caught fire as they moved into first place on Aug. 20, a post they would not relinquish the remainder of the season. The Royals closed out the season by winning 38 of their last 47 games, which included a club record 16-game winning streak from Aug. 30-Sept. 15.

Player of the Year

Al Cowens batted .312 with 23 home runs and 112 RBI to finish second in the AL MVP balloting.

Dennis Leonard tied for the league-lead with 20 wins as he recorded the first of his three seasons with 20+ wins

PLAYOFF RECAP

In a rematch of the 1976 ALCS, the Royals and Yankees again battled to the final inning of Game 5 before New York triumphed again. The Royals split the first two games in New York before coming home to win Game 3. The Royals dropped the fourth game of the series which forced another Game 5 showdown, Kansas City carried a 3-1 lead into the eighth inning, but the Yankees scored one in the eighth inning and three in the ninth to win 5-3 before 41,133 heartbroken Royals fans.

1978 Third Straight Division Crown

Larry Gura won 16 games while helping the Royals to a third straight division title.

The Royals, beset by injuries during the entire 1978 season, still managed to win their third consecutive AL West title holding off California and Texas by five games. The Royals entered the All-Star break in second place with a 44-40 record, but once again took off in July, posting a 48-30 mark down the stretch. Larry Gura pitched a three-hitter to beat Seattle on Sept. 26 to clinch the division title. The Royals became only the fifth team in AL history and first expansion team to reach the two-million mark in attendance, drawing 2,255,493 fans to Royals Stadium.

Player of the Year

Amos Otis batted .298 with 22 home runs, a career-best 96 RBI and 32 stolen bases.

Larry Gura posted a 16-4 mark and a 2.72 ERA, including a 10-2 record in the second half.

PLAYOFF RECAP

Once again the Royals and Yankees met in the ALCS, with the Yankees prevailing in four games. After splitting the first two games in KC to open the series, the Yankees captured a pair of dramatic one-run verdicts in the Bronx to win their third-straight AL pennant. Although the Yankees won Game 3 of the series, George Brett blasted three consecutive home runs off Jim 'Catfish' Hunter on Oct. 6.

Dennis Leonard earned his third Royals Pitcher of the Year award in 1979

After winning the AL West the three previous seasons the Royals fell back to second in the division, three games behind California. Tied with Texas at 42-33 on June 28, the Royals fell 10.5 games behind by July 19 after a 2-15 stretch. The club rebounded however and won 27 of their next 41 games to take over the division lead. During two key series with California in September the Angels took four of seven games to wrap up the division title. Following the season, on Oct. 24, the Royals replaced manager Whitey Herzog with Jim Frey.

Player of the Year

George Brett established or equaled 14 club records while leading the league with 212 hits and 20 triples.

Dennis Leonard threw 12 complete games and tied for the league lead with five shutouts.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Darrell Porter became only the second catcher in AL history to eclipse 100 runs, walks and RBI in a season (Mickey Cochrane of the Philadelphia Athletics turned the trick in 1932). Porter led the league in walks (121) and on-base percentage (.429). He was fifth with 112 RBI and ninth with 101 runs scored. George Brett and Frank White both hit for the cycle, while Brett clubed three home runs in a game on July 22 at Texas.

1980 Royals Reach First World Series

Manager Jim Frey led the Royals to their first World Series appearance

Twelve years after being granted an expansion franchise, Kansas City won its first American League pennant and made its first appearance in the World Series. Under first year manager Jim Frey, the club took over first place in the AL West on May 23 and never looked back, winning the division by 14 games.

Player of the Year

George Brett batted .390, the highest mark in the Majors since Ted Williams hit .406 in 1941. The AL MVP set a then-club record with a 30-game hitting streak.

Dan Quisenberry recorded 33 saves and earned his first Rolaids Fireman of the Year Award.

PLAYOFF RECAP

For the fourth time in five years, the Royals and Yankees squared off in the ALCS. The Royals won the first two games at home and then completed the series sweep before a stunned Yankee Stadium crowd. In the club's first World Series appearance the Royals fell behind 2-0 in the series, but bounced back and won two games at home to even the match. Philadelphia rallied to score two runs in the top of the ninth in Game 5 to win, 4-3 and then went on to clinch the World Championship with a 4-1 verdict in Game 6.

Former Yankees Manager Dick Howser took the reigns on August 31 and led KC to a second-half title.

The 1981 season had its ups and downs for the defending American League champion Royals. The club started the season slow and were 11 games out of first only 12 games into the season. On June 11 the Major League players went on strike, with the Royals sitting in fifth place with a 20-30 record. Following the 57-day strike, the second half of the season started on Aug. 10. The Royals began the second half with 10-10 record and then fired manager Jim Frey, replacing him with former Yankees manager Dick Howser on Aug. 31. Under Howser, who went back to the club's running style of previous years, the Royals went 20-13 and edged Oakland by one game for the second half title.

Willie Wilson ranked third in the league in hits (133) and fourth in stolen bases (34) during a

Pitcher of the Year

Larry Gura won five starts down the stretch and was the Co-American League Player of the Month for September.

PLAYOFF RECAP

The Royals played the A's in the first-ever ALDS and were swept in three games. A's pitchers held KC to a combined two runs in the series. The playoff appearance was the Royals fifth in six seasons.

1982 Injuries Keep KC Out of Playoffs

Hal McRae set a club record with 133 RRI in 1982

The injury bug befelled the 1982 version of the Royals as they finished three games behind the AL West champion California Angels. The Royals stayed within striking distance of first place all season, never falling more than five games out. They held the division lead as late as Sept. 18, but a 6-8 record down the stretch sealed their fate. They were the top offensive team in the league, pacing the circuit in hitting (.285), hits, doubles and triples. The Royals won a club record 56 games at home before a record 2,284,464 fans at Royals Stadium.

Hal McRae earned his third All-Star nod. His 133 RBI set a club record at the time.

Dan Quisenberry led the AL with 35 saves and made his first All-Star team.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Willie Wilson won his first American League batting title by hitting .332, edging out league MVP Robin Yount by .009. He also led the league with 15 triples, was fourth with 194 hits and fifth with 37 stolen bases. Frank White won his sixth consecutive Rawlings Gold Glove, played in his fourth All-Star Game and became just the fifth Royal to hit for the cycle on Aug. 3 vs. Detroit. John Wathan's 36 stolen bases established a Major League record for stolen bases by a catcher.

Submariner Dan Quisenberry set a then-Major League record with 45 saves.

The Royals finished 79-83 and 20 games behind first place Chicago, their worst season since 1974. The club fell out of first place on May 4 and were never a factor as it hovered around the .500 mark for most of the season. The Royals had their smallest Opening Night crowd in their history, 17,078, due to poor weather and eventually played 12 doubleheaders because of snow, cold and rain postponements. The Royals started the season with an 11-8 record in April and although they held a 47-49 mark on July 31, they were only 3.5 games behind first-place Chicago. The Royals quickly faded in the August heat posting a 17-18 mark to fall 10.5 games out of first, leaving Kansas City to play a meaningless September for the first time since 1974.

Player of the Year

Frank White won his first Player of the Year award, recording 77 RBI and 35 doubles.

Pitcher of the Year

Dan Quisenberry posted a 1.94 ERA and set a Major League record with 45 saves, breaking the old mark of 38.

THE PINE TAR GAME

The most memorable point of the season came on July 24 at Yankee Stadium when George Brett became the focal point of the infamous Pine Tar controversy. With KC trailing 4-3 in the 9th inning, Brett hit a two-run homer to give the Royals the lead. Following the home run, Yankees manager Billy Martin protested to the umpires that Brett's bat had pine tar too high on the barrel. Umpire Tim McClelland called George out which precipitated a charge from the dugout from Brett. The call was eventually reversed by the league office and KC returned to Yankee Stadium on Aug. 18 to seal the 5-4 win.

1984 Young Arms/Willie's Speed Lead To Playoffs

Willie Wilson led KC's return to the playoffs.

The Royals returned to the top of the American League West finishing with an 84-78 record, three games better than second-place California. The 1984 revival came on the backs of several key veterans and young pitching that surprised everyone in Kansas City and throughout the league. The Royals opened the season without George Brett (injury) and Willie Wilson (suspension) and struggled with three straight losing months as they entered the All-Star break with a 39-43 record. KC fell to a season-high eight games out of first on July 17, but rebounded from a 40-51 mark to finish with a Major League best 44-27 record the remainder of the season.

Player of the Year

Willie Wilson batted .301, finishing over .300 for the fifth time.

Pitcher of the Year

Dan Quisenberry became the first pitcher to record back-to-back 40+ save seasons.

PLAYOFF RECAP

The Royals returned to post-season action for the first time since 1981 as they faced the Detroit Tigers in a best-of-five series. Detroit swept the three-game series outscoring the Royals 14-4. The lack of offensive support overshadowed some outstanding pitching performances by Bret Saberhagen in Game 2 and Charlie Leibrandt in a 1-0 Game 3 loss. The Royals battled the Tigers for 11 innings in Game 2 and held Detroit to one run in game 3 when KC narrowly missed turning an inning-ending double play which allowed Chet Lemon to score.

Fans lined the streets during the ticker-tape parade following the 1985 World Series.

The Kansas City Royals won their first World Championship as they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals four games to three in the 82nd Fall Classic. The Royals, who had a 44-42 record and were 7.5 games out of first at the All-Star break, clinched the American League West division title on the next-to-last day of the season. In the first ALCS that featured a best-of-seven series, the Royals rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the series to defeat the Toronto Blue Jays, 4-3. In the World Series, the Royals also fell behind 2-0 in the series, but rallied to win the series, 4-3, with wins in Games 6 and 7 at Royals Stadium. With the World Series win the Royals became the first team in history to lose the first two games at home and still win the title.

Player of the Year

George Brett batted .335 and finished second in the AL MVP race. He also won his first Gold Glove.

Pitcher of the Year

Bret Saberhagen posted a 20-6 record and a 2.87 ERA, becoming KC's first Cy Young Award winner.

PLAYOFF RECAP

The Royals became only the fifth team in history to come back from a three games to one deficit and win the World Series. KC also became the second expansion franchise to win the title, joining the 1969 New York Mets. The Royals held the Cardinals to only 13 runs in the series and limited St. Louis to a .185 batting average, the lowest ever in a seven-game series. The Royals' 11-0 shutout of the Cardinals in Game 7 was the first seventh-game shutout since 1965. The Royals' title was the first for the AL West since Oakland's in 1974.

1986 Frank Gets No. 7/Bo Debuts

Slick-fielding second baseman Frank White collected his record seventh Gold Glove in 1986

The 1986 season was a difficult year for the Royals as manager Dick Howser was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor following his appearance as a manager in the All-Star Game. The Royals entered the All-Star break 8.5 games behind California with a 40-48 record. In the second half of the season, KC went 36-38 under interim manager Mike Ferraro and recorded its worst record since 1970. The club finished in third place, 16 games behind California, marking the first time since 1974 the Royals had finished lower than second. Before the All-Star break, the Royals endured their longest losing streak in club history (11 games) and suffered their worst loss, an 18-3 pounding by the Angels.

Player of the Year

Frank White earned his seventh Rawlings Gold Glove, set a career high with 84 RBI and hit a home run in the All-Star Game at Houston.

Pitcher of the Year

Mark Gubicza won 12 games and was 9-1 with a 2.70 ERA after the All-Star Break.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Dennis Leonard made his comeback after four knee surgeries with a threehit, 1-0 shutout of Toronto on April 12 after nearly three years of inactivity. He finished with an 8-13 record and a 4.44 ERA and earned the Fred Hutchinson Award. George Brett led the club with a .290 average, while Charlie Leibrandt paced the pitching staff with 14 victories.

Kevin Seitzer burst onto the scene in 1987 hitting .323 with 207 hits and 15 home runs.

The 1987 season was perhaps the most traumatic in Royals history as the club watched manager Dick Howser leave on the fourth day of spring training, too weak to manage due to surgeries and chemotherapy on a malignant brain tumor. Howser later passed away on June 17. Third base coach Billy Gardner took over for Howser and led the Royals to a 62-64 record, 3.5 games behind Minnesota, but was replaced by John Wathan on August 27. Under Wathan, the club pulled to within two games of Minnesota, but could never get closer as the 1987 Royals would finish the disappointing season, 83-79, two games behind the World Champion Twins.

Player of the Year

Danny Tartabull batted .309 with 34 home runs, 101 RBI and a club-record 21 game-winning RBI.

Bret Saberhagen, the AL Comeback Player of the Year, went 18-10 with a 3.36 ERA.

Mark Gubicza posted a 20-8 record with a 2.70 ERA in 1988.

A talented Royals team fell short of expectations in 1988 as the club finished the season in third place with an 84-77 record, 19.5 games behind first place Oakland. The Royals started the season slow (14-17) and fell 10 games behind the Athletics by May 10. KC rallied with a 13-1 stretch, which included six wins over Oakland, from June 2-16 to close the gap to 4.5 games. Unfortunately for KC, that was as close as the Royals could get the remainder of the season as they quickly fell to 11 games out by July 19.

Player of the Year

George Brett won his third Silver Slugger Award, batting .306 with 103 RBI.

Mark Gubicza won a career-high 20 games and finished third in the AL Cy Young Award voting.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Danny Tartabull drove in 102 runs and led the club with 26 home runs to become the third KC player ever to record back-to-back 100 RBI seasons. Despite missing a month with a torn hamstring, Bo Jackson became the Royals first 25-25 man with 25 home runs and 27 stolen bases. Kevin Seitzer hit .304 and became the first Royal to hit .300 in each of his first two seasons.

1989 Bret's Cy Helps KC To 92 Wins

Bo Jackson earned All-Star MVP honors after hitting a mammoth home run.

The Royals posted their third highest win total (92) in club history in 1989, but that was not enough as the Oakland Athletics captured the AL West title with a 99-63 record. KC got out of the gate quickly in 1989, posting a 16-8 record in April, but continued to chase the A's throughout the season. On May 16, the Royals were tied with Oakland, but they would not see first place again the remainder of the season. Despite numerous injuries, the Royals were as close as 1.5 games out of first on September 1, but a Labor Day weekend sweep by the Tigers in Detroit ended KC's hopes of returning to the playoffs.

Player of the Year

Jim Eisenreich batted .293 with 33 doubles and 27 stolen bases while making a ourageous comeback from Tourette's Syndrome.

Pitcher of the Year

Bret Saberhagen won his second AL Cy Young Award, going 23-6 with a 2.16 ERA.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Tom Gordon turned in a spectacular rookie season with a 17-9 record and a 3.64 ERA in 49 games (16 starts). The 21-year old right hander was named The Sporting News American League Rookie Pitcher of the Year. His honors also included the Baseball Digest Rookie of the Year and USA Today Rookie of the Year. He finished second in the Rookie of the Year balloting by the Baseball Writers

 $George\ Brett\ became\ the\ first\ player\ to\ win\ batting\ titles\ in\ three\ different\ decades,\ finishing\ with\ a\ .329\ average\ in\ 1990.$

The 1990 season opened with high expectations, but the Royals' slow start quickly erased any thoughts of returning to postseason action. The Royals 7-6, 11-inning loss to Baltimore on Opening Day was a forecast for what was to come, as the club fell to 6-15 and 10.5 games behind Oakland by May 4. Injuries and lack of production from two key free agent signings (Mark Davis and Storm Davis) eventually led the Royals to a sixth place finish, their worst finish in club history. KC's top two starters, Bret Saberhagen and Mark Gubicza, both underwent surgery, while Danny Tartabull, Bo Jackson, Terry Shumpert, Bob Boone, Luis Aquino and Steve Crawford all spent significant time on the Injured List.

Player of the Year

George Brett batted .329 and became the first player to win batting titles in three different decades.

Pitcher of the Yea

Veteran reliever Steve Farr won 13 games and posted a 1.98 ERA in 57 outings (six starts).

Bret Saberhagen threw a no-hitter against the White Sox on August 26.

The Royals finished the 1991 season with an 82-80 record, placing sixth in the AL West, 13 games behind the World Champion Twins. KC got off to another slow start, dropping to 9-17 and eight games out of first by May 8. The slow start signaled the end for manager John Wathan, as he was fired on May 21 with a 15-22 record. Bob Schaefer filled in for one game before Hal McRae took over the controls. McRae led the Royals to a 66-58 record, and despite a stretch of winning 22 of 27 games, he could not get the club any closer than 6.5 games of first place (August 14 & 15). Following that hot streak, KC finished the season with a 22-28 mark.

Danny Tartabull led the club in numerous categories, including average (.316), home runs (31) and RBI (100).

Pitcher of the Year

Bret Saberhagen no-hit the White Sox on August 26 and captured his fourth Royals Pitcher of the Year honor.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Bill Pecota won the Joe Burke Special Achievement Award, batting .286 with 16 stolen bases as the regular third baseman. He was subsequently traded in the Saberhagen deal following the season. Brian McRae was one of the few bright spots for the Royals in his first Major League season. He hit .261 with eight home runs and 64 RBI and led the club in games played (152), at bats (629), runs (86), hits (164), triples (9) and stolen bases (20). He had the longest hitting streak in the AL in 1991 and the third longest in Royals history when he hit safely in 22 straight games from July 20-August 13 (.366, 34-for-93). David Howard was named to the Baseball Digest All-Rookie team and Jim Eisenreich was honored with the Tony Conigliaro Award.

George Brett salutes the crowd in Anaheim after hit number 3000.

The Royals finished the 1992 campaign with their worst record since 1970. The tone for the season was set early on as KC lost the first seven games of the season and fell to 1-16 by April 25, 10.5 games out of first place. KC finished 24 games behind first place Oakland and with the second worst record in the league ahead of only Seattle. Following the 1-16 start, the Royals went 71-74 the remainder of the season, but never got any closer than 8.5 games of first place (June 8). The team struggled on the road as they won a franchise-low 28 games away from Royals Stadium.

George Brett recorded hit number 3,000 on September 30 at California.

Kevin Appier won 15 games to earn his first Royals Pitcher of the Year Award.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Rusty Meacham was named to the Baseball Digest All-Rookie team after posting a 10-4 record and a 2.74 ERA. He set the club rookie record with 64 appearances and finished second in the AL with 101.2 innings pitched. Hipolito Pichardo began the season at Double-A Memphis, but was quickly recalled on April 16 to Kansas City where he had an outstanding rookie season.

1993 saw the passing of Ewing Kauffman and the retirement of George Brett.

The Royals improved 12 games from the 1992 season, but still fell short of an AL West title as the Chicago White Sox finished 10 games ahead of Kansas City. KC once again got off to a slow start as they began the season 2-9. They rallied with a 25-14 stretch from April 18-June 2, and climbed into a tie for first. They spent 25 days in first during the season and were as close as two games out on August 18, but a 20-21 finish dashed their playoff hopes. The 12game improvement was the first time since 1979-80 that the club had a 10-plus game gain from the previous season.

Player of the Year

Offseason acquisition Greg Gagne posted career highs in average (.280), hits (151) and RBI (57).

Pitcher of the Year

Kevin Appier won a career-high 18 games on his way to his second straight honor.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

The 1993 season was bittersweet for the Royals as the club witnessed the passing of Owner Ewing M. Kauffman and the retirement of future Hall of Famer George Brett. Mr. K purchased the expansion Royals in 1968 and provided the fans of Kansas City with winning Major League Baseball for 25 years, before his death on August 1. Brett capped a Hall of Fame career by hitting 19 home runs with a team-high 75 RBI. In his final at bat on Oct. 3 at Texas, he collected a single off Tom Henke, the 3,154th hit of his career.

Bob Hamelin hit 24 home runs to win the AL Rookie of the Year award.

A players strike, which ended the 1994 season on August 12, wiped out the Royals final 47 games along with all postseason games. Prior to the strike, KC recorded a 14-game winning streak from July 23-August 5, the longest in the majors in 1994, to close within one game of first place. Before the streak the Royals had fallen to a season-high 9.5 games out of first. KC finished with a 64-51 record in third place, four games behind first place Chicago.

Bob Hamelin slammed 25 home runs and was named AL Rookie of the Year.

KC native David Cone won 16 games, earning the AL Cy Young Award in a strike-shortened season.

Gary Gaetti hit a career-high 35 home runs in 137 games.

The Royals underwent many changes for the 1995 season and finished in second place in the AL Central, in a season shortened to 144 games by the lingering 1994 players strike. KC opened the season on April 26 with new manager Bob Boone, a club-record seven rookies and 12 players new to Kansas City. The Royals started the season with a 10-14 record, but caught fire on May 23 and went 20-7 over the next 27 games. Although Cleveland ran away with the division title (they won by 30 games), the Royals were in the Wild Card hunt late in the season. They held a 1/2 game lead on September 8 and were in contention with two weeks left in the season before losing 11 of the final 13 games to finish 70-74.

Player of the Year

Gary Gaetti belted a career-high 35 home runs and won the AL Silver Slugger Award at third base.

Pitcher of the Year

Kevin Appier earned his third award in four years as he won 15 games and made the AL All-Star team.

1996 Goodwin Speeds To Route 66

The lightning-quick Tom Goodwin sped his way to 66 stolen bases in 1996.

The Royals got off to another slow start and by May 4 were 10-20 and 10 games out of first place. The club went on a 13-6 streak from May 5-24 to climb within three games of .500, but that was as close to the .500 mark that KC would come during the 1996 season. Although the Royals played near .500 ball (65-66) after the 10-20 start, they still finished in last place for the first time in club history, 24 games behind the AL Central champion Cleveland Indians. After the All-Star break, the Royals were 37-36, which was the second best record in the division

Player of the Year

Tom Goodwin finished second in the AL with 66 stolen bases. He also set a club record with 21 sacrifice bunts.

1997 Bell Tolls A Record 21 Times

Chili Davis led the Royals with 30 home runs.

The Royals finished the season in last place for the second straight season after not recording a last place finish in the first 27 seasons of the franchise. The club entered the season with high expectations after adding Jay Bell, Jeff King and Chili Davis to the club in the offseason, but a shaky pitching staff that recorded the highest ERA (4.70) in franchise history led to another disappointing campaign. The Royals began the season under the leadership of manager Bob Boone and led the division on May 15 with a 20-17 record. An eight-game losing streak prior to the All-Star break and a 36-46 record led to Boone's dismissal on July 6. The Royals hired Tony Muser, who lost his first four games and finished his first season as a manager with a 31-48 mark. The final 67-94 record was the second worst season in club history (65-97 in 1970).

Player of the Year

Jay Bell produced the most prolific offensive season by a KC shortstop, finishing with 21 home runs and 92 RBI.

Pitcher of the Year

Tim Belcher won his second consecutive award as he led the staff with 13 wins.

1998 Monty Returns To Prominence

Jeff Montgomery returned from surgery in 1998 to lead KC with 36 saves.

The Royals finished with a 72-89 record and in third place finish after posting back-to-back last place finishes in 1996 and 1997. The Royals began the season with a 12-15 April record, but fell into last place on May 17 with a 16-26 mark. The club won 11 of 14 games from June 18-July 2 to pull within eight games of .500 at 37-45. The Royals were in second place as late as September 5, but lost 14 of their last 21 games to finish 16.5 games behind first place Cleveland and 7.5 games behind second place Chicago. Prior to the season, the Royals suffered a major blow when ace right-hander Kevin Appier was sidelined after undergoing offseason shoulder surgery. He would not return until September.

Player of the Year

Dean Palmer hit 34 home runs and drove in 119, earning All-Star status and a Silver Slugger Award in his only full season with the Royals.

Pitcher of the Year

Jeff Montgomery returned to form after shoulder surgery to notch 36 saves.

George Brett joined Robin Yount and Nolan Ryan in a star-studded Hall of Fame class.

The Royals logged the worst record in franchise history in 1999 (65-97 in 1970). The club got off to a great start as they stood 21-18 on May 20, which left them only one game out of the AL Wild Card spot. By June 21 however, the Royals had lost 14 of 16 and 22 of 28 to slide to 19 games out of first and into fourth place in the division. KC finished the season by losing 79 of their final 125 games. The club scored a team-record 856 runs, surpassing the previous high of 851 set in 1979, but the pitching staff allowed the most runs (921) with the highest ERA (5.35) in club history. The bullpen shouldered a lot of the blame as they recorded an AL low 29 saves with 30 blown saves.

Player of the Year

25-year old Jermaine Dye had a breakout season with 27 home runs and 119 RBI.

Pitcher of the Year

Jose Rosado earned his second All-Star nod while compiling a 3.85 ERA in 33 starts.

2000 Glass Family Purchases Royals

Jermaine Dye and Mike Sweeney both earned All-Star nods in 2000.

The Royals established club records in runs scored (879), hits (1,644) and team batting average (.288) in 2000. Despite the offensive firepower, the Royals finished in fourth place, 18 games behind AL Central champion Chicago. The Royals started the season with an 8-3 record, but by the All-Star break had fallen to 39-46 and 15 games out of first. The club had a 38-39 record in the second half, only three games behind Chicago's second half mark. The Royals hit total led the American League while only Cleveland had a higher team batting average. KC also showed their speed on the bases as they had 121 thefts, while only being caught 35 times for a 78 percent success rate, the best in the league.

Player of the Year

Mike Sweeney made his first All-Star team while setting a club record with 144 RBI.

Pitcher of the Yea

Jeff Suppan posted 10 wins in a career-high 217 innings en route to his first Royals Pitcher of the Year honor.

Carlos Beltrán was named 2001 Royals Player of the Year after being among the league leaders in 11 different offensive categories.

The Royals tied the franchise record with 97 losses as they finished in fifth place in the AL Central, 26 games behind the division champion Cleveland Indians. The last place finish was the first for KC since 1997 and its seventh straight losing season. Prior to this stretch, the club had only logged back-to-back losing seasons in the first two years of the franchise (1969 and 1970). Another slow start doomed the season from the beginning as the Royals stood at 7-15 and 9.5 games out of first by April 27. The club had a 34-53 record at the break (21 games out) and fell to a season-low 35 games under .500 on September 25.

Player of the Year

Carlos Beltrán batted .306 with 106 runs, 101 RBI and 31 stolen bases. At 24, he became the youngest winner of the award since George Brett in 1976.

Pitcher of the Year

Jeff Suppan led the team in wins, innings pitched and strikeouts to earn his second straight award.

As the workhorse of the staff, Paul Byrd recorded 17 wins in 228.1 innings in 2002.

Kansas City finished 62-100, marking the first 100-loss season in franchise history. The Royals were one of four teams to lose 100 games in 2002, joining Tampa Bay, Milwaukee and Detroit, marking the first time in Major League history that four teams lost 100 or more games. The Royals opened the season with an 8-15 record before firing manager Tony Muser on April 29. John Mizerock was named the interim manager and went 5-8 before Tony Peña took over a 13-23 club that was eight games out of first on May 15. Pena led the club to a 49-77 mark that included five losing streaks of six games or more, and two eight-game losing streaks.

Player of the Year

Mike Sweeney batted .340, the second-highest mark in club history.

Pitcher of the Year

Paul Byrd led the staff with 17 wins and led the AL with seven complete games.

Carlos Beltrán's spectacular plays kept the Royals in the playoff hunt.

The 2003 season was a magical season for the Royals as the club posted its first winning record since 1994 and stayed in the pennant race until the final two weeks of the season. KC's season marked the sixth-best turnaround after a 100-loss season in Major League history (21 games). The Royals opened the season with a franchise-best 9-0 record and went 11-0 to start the home campaign, the second-best home start in Major League history (1911, Detroit, 12-0). KC continued its great play opening 16-3 and by the All-Star break, the Royals were 51-41 with a seven-game lead in the AL Central. The Royals spent 93 games in first place or tied for first during the season. After the break, injuries to the pitching staff took their toll, as the Royals fell out of first place for the final time on August 31.

Player of the Year

Carlos Beltrán became the first Royal to have 20+ home runs and 40+ stolen bases in a season.

Pitcher of the Year

Darrell May set personal bests in several categories, including wins (10) and ERA (3.77).

2004 Rookies Take Club Awards

20-year old Zack Greinke earned his first Royals Pitcher of the Year award in 2004.

Kansas City finished the 2004 campaign with a 58-104 record, marking its worst record in club history and second 100-loss season in three years. The season looked like it was going to be a repeat of the 2003 season as the Royals defeated Chicago, 9-7, on Opening Day. Carlos Beltrán hit the first walk-off home run in Royals Opening Day history in the ninth inning after Mendy Lopez had hit a game-tying three-run homer earlier in the inning. The crowd of 41,575 was the largest in Royals Opening Day history and the third largest in Kauffman Stadium history. Unfortunately, the Royals lost 20 of their first 28 games to fall 8.5 games out of first by May 8. KC became just the second club in Major League history to lose 100 games, post a winning season the following year, and then lose 100 games the next season.

Player of the Year

David DeJesus batted .287 in 96 games and became just the second rookie to win the Royals Player of the Year Award.

Zack Greinke joined Dennis Leonard as the only rookies to win Royals Pitcher of the Year honors.

Mike Sweeney was named to his fifth All-Star team in 2005.

The Royals suffered their third 100-loss season in four years as they finished with a franchise-worst 56-106 record. Once again, the Royals were out of the division race early as they stood 8-25 and 17 games out of first on May 10. The slow start prompted the resignation of manager Tony Peña, who was replaced by interim manager Bob Schaefer. He led the Royals to a 5-12 record before the hiring of Buddy Bell on May 31. Bell won his first four games as the skipper and swept the Yankees and Dodgers in three-game series in his first two weeks on the job. The Royals could not sustain that pace though as they finished a club-record 43 games out of first. The Royals also recorded their longest losing streak in club history, a 19-game streak from July 28-August 19. The 2005 campaign was the first time in team history the Royals completed a season with the worst record in the Majors.

Plaver of the Year

Mike Sweeney batted .300 and became the fourth player in club history to be named to five All-Star teams.

Pitcher of the Year

Mike MacDougal recorded a 3.33 ERA and saved 21 games in a career-high 68 appearances.

2006 Bell Looks to Brighter Future

 ${\bf Dayton\ Moore\ became\ the\ sixth\ General\ Manager\ in\ franchise\ history}.$

The 2006 season was one of change, as the Royals hired Dayton Moore, who assumed the duties of general manager on June 8. Moore made a series of moves to reshape both the roster and the front office. On the field, the Royals could not avoid their fourth 100-loss season in five years as they finished 62-100. An 11-game losing streak in April and a 13-game drought in May pushed the club to a 16-47 mark through June 13. The team regrouped to post a 46-53 record the remainder of the season.

Player of the Year

Mark Teahen overcame a slow start to bat .290 and led the club with 18 home runs.

Pitcher of the Yea

Mark Redman returned from knee surgery in Spring Training to lead the team with 11 wins.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Second baseman Mark Grudzielanek won his first Rawlings Gold Glove following the season. Grud also received the Joe Burke Special Achievement Award. He finished the 2006 campaign posting a .994 fielding percentage, committing just four errors. He opened the season with 77 consecutive errorless games at second base.

Gil Meche had an All-Star year in 2007.

The 2007 season started slowly for the Royals, who compiled a 12-26 mark through May 12. Kansas City warmed up over the summer months, going 51-49 over their next 100 games. At 62-75 on September 4, the club had avoided a fourth straight season of 100 losses and seemed destined for a marked improvement. The roster compiled of young players struggled to a 7-18 mark down the stretch to finish 69-93. Highly touted rookies Alex Gordon and Billy Butler displayed flashes of brilliance in 2007, giving Royals fans high hopes for the future.

Player of the Year

Mark Grudzielanek overcame two knee surgeries to bat .302 with six home runs and 51 RBI in 116 games

Pitcher of the Year

Gil Meche set career bests in starts (34), innings (216.0) and ERA (3.67) in his first year with the Royals

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Brian Bannister and Billy Butler combined for three American League Rookie of the Month awards. Bannister, the 2007 Joe Burke Special Achievement Award winner, won five games in June to become just the second Royal to win the award (Angel Berroa, 2003). Butler batted .341 with 24 RBI to capture the honor in July. Bannister won four more games in August to earn his second award of the season.

2008 Improved Season Under Skipper Hillman

Joakim Soria recorded 42 saves while earning his first All-Star nod in 2008.

Trey Hillman started his tenure as Royals manager in 2008, guiding the club to a six-win improvement over the 2007 season. The Royals swept the opening series at Detroit and shared or held a lead in the AL Central through the first 10 games of the season. The club was 2.0 games out of first place on May 18 before a season-long 12 game losing skid dropped the club to the division cellar. Kansas City won 16 games in June, their highest total since 1988. A 7-20 mark in August dropped the club back into last place. A MLB-best 18-8 mark in September helped the Royals finish in fourth place.

Player of the Year

Rookie Mike Aviles hit 10 home runs and led Major League shortstops with a .325 average.

Pitcher of the Year

Joakim Soria posted a 1.60 ERA while recording 42 saves in 45 opportunities.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Zack Greinke posted career highs with 13 wins and 183 strikeouts to earn the Joe Burke Special Achievement Award. The Royals had three players win AL Player or Co-Player of the Week Awards (Brian Bannister, April 7-13, Jose Guillen, May 12-18, Mike Aviles, July 28-August 3). This was the first time that the Royals have had at least three winners since 2002. On July 12, second baseman Mark Grudzielanek became the sixth player to record his 2,000th career hit as a Royal. That same night, David DeJesus hit a dramatic walk-off home run with two outs in the ninth.

Zack Greinke led the Majors with a 2.16 ERA on his way to the 2009 AL Cy Young

The 2009 opened with high expectations as the Royals re-dedicated Kauffman Stadium, which had undergone a $250 million renovation. Kansas City opened on a roll, building an 18-11 mark and a 3.0 game lead in the AL Central through May 7. The Royals then struggled to a 33-74 mark over their next 107 games before rebounding by winning 14 of their final 26 contests. The ups and downs were in direct contrast to the steady performance of two emerging home grown Kansas City stars. Pitcher Zack Greinke was dominant from start to finish and Billy Butler became an offensive force in the middle of the lineup. Both players set records and energized Kansas City fans who filled 'The New K' during the Royals' 40th Anniversary season.

Player of the Year

Billy Butler won his first Royals Player of the Year Award as he led the club with a .301 average and 93 RBI.

Pitcher of the Year

Zack Greinke led the Majors with a 2.16 ERA while winning the AL Cy Young Award.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Zack Greinke's record-setting season culminated in Kansas City's fourth Cy Young Award. Greinke was also honored by the Major League Baseball Players Association, The Sporting News and the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum. The right-hander was named the AL Pitcher of the Month for April while Billy Butler was named the AL Player of the Month for September. Greinke and Butler each won AL Player of the Week honors on two occasions. Alberto Callaspo batted .300 with 11 home runs and 73 RBI to earn the Joe Burke Special Achievement Award.

Ned Yost took the reins on May 13, 2010, becoming the 16th full-time manager in franchise history.

The 2010 turned out to be a transitional year for the Royals as Ned Yost officially took the reins of the club as the 16th full-time manager in club history on May 13. Yost then signed a contract on July 31 to remain with the club at least through the 2012 campaign. On the field, closer Joakim Soria continued to dominate AL hitters on his way to his second All-Star selection. Soria set a new Royals record by converting 36 consecutive saves and finished with a career-best 43. Close games were prevalent, as 54% (87 of 162) contests were decided by two runs or less. Seven Royals hurlers recorded their first Major League victories.

Player of the Year

Billy Butler joined George Brett as the only players to win back-to-back Royals Player of the Year

Joakim Soria set a career-high with 43 saves while making his second All-Star team.

Eric Hosmer, one of 12 players to make their debut in 2011, finished third in AL Rookie of the Year voting.

A wave of young talent made its way to Kansas City with 12 players making their Major League debuts in 2011. By mid-August the Royals starting lineup featured first-year players at catcher, first base, second base and third base. In addition, Danny Duffy became the first rookie left-hander to make at least 20 starts for KC since 1997. Rookies also formed the majority of the bullpen, with former first-round pick Aaron Crow representing the club at the All-Star Game. Veterans on the club also made their mark led by Jeff Francoeur (47), Alex Gordon (45), Melky Cabrera (43) and Billy Butler (43) who became the fourth quartet of teammates in Major League history with at least 40 doubles apiece. Cabrera, Gordon and Francoeur became the first outfield in Major League history to post 40 or more doubles each.

Player of the Year

Alex Gordon posted breakout numbers with both his bat and glove in his first full year as an outfielder. At the plate, Gordon batted .303 with 23 home runs and 87 RBI. The 27-year old earned Rawlings Gold Glove honors for his work in left field, which included a club record and Major League-leading 20 outfield assists. The University of Nebraska product set career highs in nearly every offensive category and finished in the top 10 in the American League in batting average, multi-hit games, runs, hits, total bases, doubles and extra-base hits.

Pitcher of the Year

Veteran Bruce Chen continued his comeback from "Tommy John" surgery with a second-straight 12-win season. Chen, who missed more than a month with a left lat strain, was 12-8 with a 3.77 ERA in 155.0 innings.

2012 All-Star Game, Butler Highlight Season

Billy Butler was named to his first All-Star team. He led the team with 29 homers and 107 RBI.

For the first time in nearly 40 years, Kansas City played host to the Mid-Summer Classic at Kauffman Stadium. The Royals were well-represented in the three days of events as first baseman/designated hitter Billy Butler made his first All-Star Game appearance, manager Ned Yost was on the American League coaching staff, while KC had three starters in the Futures Game, including both starting pitchers. During the regular season, the Royals recovered from a rough start and finished the year at 72-90. The year was again highlighted by the club's infusion of young talent as former first-round pick Mike Moustakas finished his first full season in the big leagues with 20 homers – the most by a Royals third baseman since 1998. Butler was a steady force throughout the year, earning Silver Slugger (DH) and Edgar Martinez awards. Outfielder Alex Gordon led all of baseball with 51 doubles, which tied Butler for the second-most in team history.

Player of the Year

Billy Butler won his third Royals Player of the Year honor, leading the team in all three Triple Crown categories.

Pitcher of the Year

Reliever Greg Holland recorded seven wins and 16 saves out of the bullpen after taking over as the team's closer on July 31.

All-Stars Greg Holland and Salvador Perez made a habit of high-fiving to celebrate after Holland's club-record 47 saves.

For the first time in a decade, Kansas City finished with a winning record and led by a retooled pitching staff, nearly made its first postseason appearance since 1985. The Royals won 2 of 3 from eventual AL Wild Card participant Cleveland in mid-September to get to within 2.0 games of the final spot, but couldn't close the gap. KC still managed to win 86 games and finish with a .531 winning percentage, both highs since the 1989 Royals went 92-70. The Royals posted the best record (43-27) in the American League after the All-Star break. Prior to the season, the club added veteran starting pitchers James Shields and Ervin Santana, who anchored a staff that led the AL with a 3.45 ERA and recorded 95 quality starts - most by a Royals' staff since 1985. KC also boasted the league's top bullpen as closer Greg Holland set a team record 47 saves, while the group posted a franchise-best 2.55 ERA. The Royals' efforts were recognized throughout the league as the club received three All-Star selections - catcher Salvador Perez, left fielder Alex Gordon and reliever Greg Holland.

Player of the Year

Eric Hosmer won his first Royals Player of the Year honor, leading the AL in multi-hit games (60) and hitting .317 with 30 doubles, 16 homers and 68 RBI over the final 4 ½ months of the season.

Pitcher of the Year

Reliever Greg Holland earned his second-straight Pitcher of the Year Award, converting a teamrecord 47 saves, including 40 in 41 chances after May 30.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

For the first time in club history, the Royals boasted three Rawlings Gold Glove Award winners in 2013. Catcher Salvador Perez and first baseman Eric Hosmer were each awarded their first Gold Gloves, while left fielder Alex Gordon earned his third-straight defensive honor. For the second time in three years, Gordon led the American League in outfield assists (17), while Perez paced the league by throwing out 23 would-be base stealers. Hosmer committed just eight errors in 1,335 chances at first base (.994 fielding percentage).

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Kansas City celebrated the Royals first American League Championship in 29 years

After 29 years of frustration, the Kansas City Royals returned to the postseason in 2014 and took the San Francisco Giants to a deciding seventh game, before falling 3-2. The Royals struggled through the first part of the season, sitting at 48-50 on July 21, but posted a 41-23 mark down the stretch to claim a Wild Card berth. In KC's first postseason game in nearly three decades, the Royals treated their home fans to a thrilling 9-8 victory over Oakland in 12 innings. From there, the club rolled off seven-straight victories, sweeping the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore Orioles, en route to a meeting with San Francisco in the World Series. The Royals made their run on the strength of a lights-out bullpen that featured Greg Holland, who saved 40-plus games for a secondstraight season, as well as Wade Davis and Kelvin Herrera, who both appeared in 70-plus games and assembled 1.00 and 1.41 ERAs, respectively. For the second-straight year, three Royals were selected to the American League All-Star team, with Salvador Perez, Alex Gordon and Holland, representing the club at Target Field.

Player of the Year

Lorenzo Cain won his first Royals Player of the Year honor, leading KC's effort in the postseason by hitting .333 (20-for-60) with five doubles, eight RBI, 13 runs scored and a handful of highlight reel plays in the outfield.

Pitcher of the Year

Righty Wade Davis had as dominant of a year as any reliever in club history. He had the eighth-best ERA by an American League reliever (1.00), set the club's strikeout record (109) by a relief pitcher and set the club record for holds (33) on his way to being named Royals Pitcher of the Year.

POSTSEASON RECAP

Kansas City's return to the postseason after a 29-year absence featured one of the most successful runs in franchise history. The Royals won their first eight playoff games, including four of the first five in extra-innings. KC opened the postseason with a 9-8 triumph over Oakland in the AL Wild Card Game, before sweeping the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore Orioles in the ALDS and ALCS, respectively. The Royals faced San Francisco in an all-Wild Card World Series, but fell in a deciding Game 7, with series MVP Madison Bumgarner stranding the tying run at third base in the bottom of the ninth.

Royals players celebrate the franchise's second World Series title.

The Royals took the final step in 2015, capturing the franchise's second World Series championship, after falling 90 feet short the previous season. Kansas City won its first seven games of the season and never looked back, taking over first-place for good on June 8. The Royals led the division by 4.5 games at the All-Star break, with a 52-34 record, and clinched the division title on Sept. 24, with a 10-4 triumph over Seattle. The club was well-represented at the All-Star Game in Cincinnati, with four players being named starters – catcher Salvador Perez, shortstop Alcides Escobar and outfielders Alex Gordon and Lorenzo Cain, and three other players selected to the team: third baseman Mike Moustakas and pitchers Wade Davis and Kelvin Herrera. The seven All-Star selections were a franchise record and the most by any team since Texas had eight in 2012.

Player of the Year

Lorenzo Cain won his second-straight Royals Player of the Year honor, leading the club in hitting (.307) again. Cain was selected to his first All-Star Game and finished third in American League MVP voting after setting career highs in runs (101), hits (169), doubles (34), homers (16) and RBI (72).

Pitcher of the Year

Relief pitcher Wade Davis also earned his second consecutive honor, serving as both a setup man and the closer during the 2015 season. Like Cain, he was named an All-Star for the first time in his career, posting an 8-1 record with 17 saves in 18 chances and a Major League-leading 0.94 ERA.

POSTSEASON RECAP

Coming from behind was the theme of the Royals' World Series championship run as Kansas City trailed in seven of their 11 playoff wins, tying a Major League record. KC survived a Division Series scare from Houston, coming back from four runs down in Game 4, before claiming a decisive Game 5 at home. The Royals advanced to their second-straight World Series by knocking off Toronto in a spirited six-game set. The franchise's second World Championship featured four come-from-behind victories over the New York Mets, including a ninth-inning comeback in Game 5 to clinch the title, 7-2 in 12 innings at Citi Field. Salvador Perez was named World Series MVP, batting .364 with two doubles and three runs scored in the series.

After capturing their first World Series championship in 30 years, the Royals took a step back in 2016, finishing 81-81 and third in the American League Central. It marked the franchise's fourth-straight season without a losing record, the first time it has done that since six-straight winning seasons (1975-80). Kansas City had an especially rough stretch in July and were 12.0 games out after being swept in a four-game series at Texas. However, the Royals rallied to finish the season 32-24 over their last 56 contests. Injuries played a large role in KC's struggles as 2015 All-Stars Alex Gordon, Mike Moustakas and Wade Davis all missed significant portions of the campaign.

Player of the Year

First Baseman Eric Hosmer earned his second Player of the Year Award, setting career highs in home runs (25) and RBI (104). He was also named MVP of the All-Star Game in San Diego, becoming the second Royals player to earn that distinction, joining Bo Jackson (1989).

Pitcher of the Yea

Left-handed pitcher Danny Duffy put it all together, going 12-3 with a 3.51 ERA. He set career highs in wins, starts (26), innings (179.2) and strikeouts, after opening the year in the bullpen. Duffy also set the franchise record, collecting 16 strikeouts in his August 1 start at Tampa Bay.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Catcher Salvador Perez was well-decorated in 2016, winning his fourth consecutive Rawlings Gold Glove and was also honored with his first Louisville Silver Slugger Award. Perez became the first Royals catcher to garner a Silver Slugger, setting a career high with 22 home runs. He was also named an American League All-Star for the fourth time, earning a Major League-best 4,965,838 All-Star votes.

Moustakas' resurgence highlighted a sub-.500 year.

Third baseman Mike Moustakas set a franchise single-season record, bashing 38 home runs to top the previous high watermark of 36 by Steve Balboni in 1985. Moose blasted 25 of his dingers before the All-Star break, which also set a club record and helped him earn his second All-Star selection and become the third Royal to participate in the Home Run Derby. As a team, the Royals also set a home run record, going deep 193 times during the 2017 season. Along with Moustakas, Salvador Perez (27), Eric Hosmer (25) and Brandon Moss (22) all topped 20 roundtrippers. The Royals led the race for the second Wild Card through the end of July with a 55-49 record, however they finished 25-33 over the final two months to miss the postseason for the second-straight year.

In his final year with the Royals, Eric Hosmer hit a career-best .318 with 31 doubles, 25 homers and 94 RBI, en route to winning his third Les Milgram Player of the Year Award.

Lefty Jason Vargas won 18 games, tying for the Major League lead and earning selection to his first All-Star Game. The veteran went 18-11 with a 4.16 ERA to earn the Bruce Rice Pitcher of the Year Award.

Whit led the Major Leagues in both hits and stolen bases.

The Royals completed their 50th season in franchise history with their first 100+ loss season since 2006. However, things took a positive turn late in the year, when several members of the farm system joined the big league ranks, helping the club go 20-14 in their final 34 games. Whit Merrifield enjoyed an outstanding year, leading the Major Leagues in both hits (192) and stolen bases (45), becoming just the third player since World War II to lead the big leagues in both categories. Highly-touted prospects Adalberto Mondesi, Hunter Dozier and Ryan O'Hearn all had their first extended time in the Majors and showed flashes of what Kansas City's core could look like for several years to come.

Player of the Year

Super utility man Whit Merrifield batted .304 with 43 doubles, 12 homers, and 45 stolen bases, earning the Les Milgram Player of the Year Award. He led the Majors in both hits and steals.

Pitcher of the Year

Rule 5 selection Brad Keller went 9-6 with a 3.08 ERA to win the Bruce Rice Pitcher of the Year Award. Keller became the first rookie and youngest to win the award since Zack Greinke in 2004.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

For the fourth time in five years, Kansas City boasted multiple Rawlings Gold Glove selections as first baseman Eric Hosmer and left fielder Alex Gordon were both tabbed American League winners at their respective positions. It was Gordon's fifth selection, which is the second-most in club history, behind Frank White's eight. Since Gordon won his first award in 2011, Kansas City collected 14 Rawlings Gold Gloves, more than any other team in that span.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Catcher Salvador Perez and left fielder Alex Gordon were both honored once again with Rawlings Gold Glove. For Gordon, his six Gold Gloves are the second-most in franchise history, while Perez captured his fifth defensive award from Rawlings.

Despite enduring their second-straight 100-loss season, the Kansas City Royals set or tied several individual records in 2019. The most notable by outfielder/designated hitter Jorge Soler, who set the franchise record with 48 home runs and became the first Royal to lead the American League in roundtrippers. Along with Soler, Whit Merrifield hit in the first 11 games of the year to extend his hitting streak to a club-record 31 games (carried over from 2018), eclipsing George Brett's previous mark by one. Merrifield also led the Majors in hits (206) for the second-straight year, becoming just the second right-handed batter to lead baseball in hits in consecutive years, joining Hall of Famer Kirby Puckett. Merrifield, along with teammates Hunter Dozier and Adalberto Mondesi finished tied for the Major League lead in triples, each collecting 10. KC became the first team to have a player or players pace the league in hits, triples and homers since Jim Rice did it with the Boston Red Sox in 1978.

Player of the Year

Jorge Soler led the American League with 48 roundtrippers, shattering KC's previous club record set by Mike Moustakas two seasons earlier by 10. Soler's total also set the Major League record for a player born in Cuba, passing Rafael Palmeiro's totals from 1999 and 2001.

Pitcher of the Year

Right-hander Ian Kennedy made the successful transition from starter to reliever, tying for fourth in the AL with 30 saves. He became the fourth pitcher since saves became an official stat in 1969 to record both a 20-win season (2011) and a 30-save campaign, joining Dennis Eckersley, John Smoltz and Derek Lowe.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTS

During the last week of the regular season, manager Ned Yost announced that he would be retiring at the end of the year. The all-time winningest skipper in franchise history, Yost recorded his 746th victory on the final day of the season, a 5-4 walk-off triumph over the Division Champion Minnesota Twins. Yost guided the franchise through a rocky beginning and helped it win its second World Series championship in 2015.

GAME SUMMARY

Kansas City hosted an MLB All-Star Game for the first time on July 11, 1960. The 28th version of the Midsummer Classic was played at Municipal Stadium with the National League prevailing, 5-3. Two days later, the NL would win once again, shutting out the AL, 6-0, at Yankee

The game in Kansas City was attended by 30,619 fans who witnessed the senior circuit get off to a scorching start against AL starter and losing pitcher, Bill Monbouquette of the Boston Red Sox.

Willie Mays led off for the NL and tripled to right. Mays scored when the next batter, Bob Skinner, singled. After consecutive outs from future Hall of Famers Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron, another future Hall of Famer, Ernie Banks, homered to give the NL a 3-0 lead.

The NL added a fourth run in the second inning on catcher Del Crandall's solo home run and a fifth in the third frame as future Hall of Famer Bill Mazeroski drove home Banks with a single to left.

Another future member of the Hall of Fame, Al Kaline, blasted a two-run home run in the eighth to bring the AL within two runs at 5-3, but that was as close as they were able to get.

No MVP was named, but Mays ended up 3-for-4 with a run scored and Banks added two hits, drove in two and scored two runs.

The game featured 15 future Hall of Famers (plus Hall of Fame managers Walter Alston and Al Lopez), all indicated in bold in the box score. Ted Williams, who would retire at the end of the season, grounded out to second base as a pinch hitter in the second inning. Cardinals legend Stan Musial recorded an infield single as a pinch hitter in the road half of the eighth.

Al Lopez managed the American League and was joined by coaches Tony Cuccinello and Don Gutteridge. The National League was managed by Walter Alston, who was joined by coaches Solly Hemus and Fred Hutchinson.

Finally, Hall of Fame umpire Nestor Chylak umped both second and first base in 1960 and then returned to Kansas City to umpire home plate during the 1973 All-Star Game.

GAME SUMMARY

Kansas City was the site of the 40th Major League Baseball All-Star Game in 1973 where the National League handed the American League a 7-1 loss.

The game marked the final All-Star appearance for Willie Mays and was attended by members of the first All-Star Game in 1933, including Carl Hubbell, Bill Hallahan, Lefty Gomez, Dick Bartel, Lefty Grove, Jimmie Dykes and Charlie Gehringer.

The AL jumped out to a 1-0 lead after a double from Reggie Jackson and an RBI single from KC's Amos Otis. However, the NL All-Stars countered with two runs in the top of the third and also scored in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Rick Wise earned the win for the NL after allowing two hits and one ER in 2.0 innings of work.

Bobby Bonds was named the game's MVP, coming off the bench to go 2-for-2 with a two-run homer in the fifth inning, giving the NL a 5-1 lead.

Johnny Bench hit one of longest home runs in the history of the Midsummer Classic, launching a 480-foot solo shot off Bill Singer in the fourth inning over the left field concourse.

The game featured 17 future Hall of Famers (plus three Hall of Fame managers), including Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Rod Carew, and Brooks Robinson to name a few, while Hall of Fame manager Joe Torre played in the game for the National League. The game also featured three Royals - Amos Otis, John Mayberry and Cookie Rojas - and one future Royals manager, Buddy Bell, who tripled as a pinch hitter in the third inning. Otis led the AL players, going 2-for-2 with the team's only RBI.

Dick Williams managed the American League and was joined by coaches Whitey Herzog and Chuck Tanner. The National League was managed by Sparky Anderson, who was joined by coaches Gene Mauch and Bill Virdon.

2012 ALL-STAR GAME

GAME SUMMARY

Kansas City hosted its third MLB All-Star Game on July 10, 2012. The 83rd version of the Midsummer Classic was played at Kauffman Stadium with the National League prevailing, 8-0, moving the senior circuit's record to a perfect 3-0 in All-Star Games played in the City of Fountains.

Eleven pitchers combined on the six-hit shutout for the National League with the win claimed by starter Matt Cain.

The victory was the National League's third straight and clinched home field advantage in the World Series, which proved to be beneficial for the San Francisco Giants who won the first two games of the 2012 World Series en route to a sweep over the Detroit Tigers. Giants played key roles in the All-Star Game win, including MVP Melky Cabrera, starting and winning pitcher Matt Cain, and 2012 World Series MVP Pablo Sandoval who connected for a three-run triple.

The game in Kansas City was attended by 40,933 fans who witnessed the Senior Circuit get off to a scorching start against AL starter and losing pitcher, Justin Verlander of the Detroit Tigers, scoring five times.

After a strikeout to open the game, a Cabrera single and Ryan Braun double scored the game's first run. A pair of twoout walks loaded the bases for Sandoval, who emptied the bags with a triple. Dan Uggla followed with a single, driving in Sandoval.

Neither league threatened until the fourth when the National League added three runs, all with two outs, to create the final 8-0 deficit. Rafael Furcal tripled and scored as his Cardinals teammate Matt Holliday singled. Cabrera followed with a two-run home run to deep left field.

The American League's best scoring chance came in the bottom of the fifth as back-to-back one-out singles from David Ortiz and Mike Napoli and a two-out walk to Asdrúbal Cabrera loaded the bases. But lan Kinsler flied out to end the

Cabrera of the Giants, who played with the Royals in 2011, was named the MVP after going 2-for-3 with two RBI and two

The first World Series in Kansas City history saw the Royals fall to the Philadelphia Phillies in six games. After dropping the first two contests at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, the Royals returned to the Midwest and evened the matchup with victories in Games 3 and 4. However, the Phillies rallied for a pair of ninth-inning runs to take Game 5 and closed out the series in Philadelphia with a 4-1 triumph in Game 6. In an exciting series spiced by several outstanding individual performances, Willie Aikens blasted four home runs and hit .400, while Amos Otis hit .478 and clubbed three round trippers.

Kansas City rallied from two-games-to-none and three-games-to one deficits to capture its first World Championship by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals in the "I-70 Series". The Royals became the first club in the 82-year history of the Fall Classic to lose their first two games at home and come back to win the title. KC also became the first AL expansion club to win a World Championship and the second expansion team overall, joining the New York Mets (1969). KC's talented and youthful pitching staff held the Major League's best hitting club to 13 total runs and a batting average of .185—the lowest ever in a seven-game World Series. Bret Saberhagen earned Most Valuable Player honors with two wins and a 0.50 ERA.

Kansas City participated in its first World Series in 29 years, as the Royals captured the American League pennant and faced the San Francisco Giants in a thrilling seven-game Fall Classic. The Giants claimed the deciding game behind series MVP Madison Bumgarner's 5.0 scoreless innings in Game 7. The Royals threatened in the ninth inning, putting the tying run on third base with two outs, but could not advance the final 90 feet. Center fielder Lorenzo Cain capped his torrid postseason, batting .308 (8-for-26) with three doubles and five RBI during the series. Rookie fireballer Yordano Ventura started two of KC's wins, including Game 6 when he tossed 7.0 scoreless frames in a 10-0 triumph.

Kansas City won its first World Championship in 30 years, besting the New York Mets in a exhilarating five-game series that featured two extra-innings wins. The Royals came from behind in all four of their victories, which included overcoming a 3-1 deficit after five in Game 4 and a 2-0 deficit after eight in Game 5. Catcher Salvador Perez earned World Series MVP honors after batting .364 with two doubles, three runs scored and two RBI. Johnny Cueto tossed the fourth complete game by a Royal in the World Series in Game 2, while KC's bullpen stymied the Mets throughout the series, posting a 3-0 mark with a 1.90 ERA (5 ER in 23.2 IP) with four walks and 30 strikeouts.

he world felt like it came to a standstill as businesses shut their doors and told many to work from home due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Others weren't as lucky as many lost jobs or were furloughed. With cuts and lost incomes, many people in the Kansas City community needed help – the Royals stepped up.

Royals Charities, the charitable arm of the Royals organization, with the support of the new ownership group, created Royals Respond. The initiative offered resources to the community and helpful information provided by The University of Kansas Health Systems. It also created the Royals Respond Fund to financially support Kansas City-area nonprofits who care for those affected by the pandemic including those who were dealing with food insecurity as a result of school closures and guarantines.

The goals and plans were established within just a few days of closures, and the charity began acting immediately.

"I'm not only proud of what we've done; I'm especially proud of how the Royals organization responded so swiftly to the enormous need in our community," explained Royals Chairman and CEO John Sherman.

Royals associates, players, the ownership group and Royals Charities Community Champions Price Chopper and Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City joined together to help several charities and provide meals during an incredibly uncertain time.

"We knew, of course, that we had big things to deal within our business and our industry," said Sherman. "But we also knew that with jobless parents and hungry kids, there were much larger and more compelling priorities, like setting up our parking lot for food distribution. I don't think I'll ever forget the vision of Royals associates in our parking lot - all in masks and Royals shirts - loading Harvesters food into hundreds of cars, one after the other."

Since March, the organization has been able to support Harvesters with over 500,000 meals, including the distribution event at Kauffman Stadium. Royals Respond also supported 12 charities with grants, provided 450 workers at The University of Kansas Health Systems with pizza, fed 2,500 first responders from both Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., and even wrote letters to many nursing home residents who were feeling lonely during the pandemic.

As the pandemic evolves, so too will the Royals Respond Fund. Food insecurity is still a primary focus, but the charity will adapt to assist with needs related to education. No matter what, the primary objective is to help their beloved community.

"Something has been awakened in us here, something that's been ingrained in the Royals culture going back to Ewing Kauffman 50 years ago," Sherman concluded.

"We're stewards of this community asset. The Kansas City Royals will work to use that asset to help our community – in all its rich diversity – treat all of us the way each of us should be treated. I'm proud to be a part of this legacy, and pledge to continue doing all we can to make our region better, wherever the need, wherever the opportunity."

KAUFFMAN STADIUM

The Kansas City Royals will celebrate their 48th season at Kauffman Stadium in 2020. Kauffman has always been one of the crown jewel ballparks of Major League Baseball. Having hosted 84,977,012 fans since 1973, 'The K' with its signature look, has proudly stood the test of time.

Last offseason, the Royals replaced the original foul poles that had stood at the ballpark since the first game in 1973. Netting was also extended to cover the entirety of foul territory.

The Royals drew over 2 million fans to the park three seasons in a row (2015-17), something that hadn't been accomplished in three-straight years since the club did it in seven consecutive seasons, from 1985-91. 'The K' has played host to two World Series and an All-Star Game over the past eight seasons.

After years of planning and design, the Royals unveiled an exciting $250 million renovation of this true Kansas City landmark prior to the 2009 season. Visitors enjoy an improved Kauffman Stadium experience with unsurpassed amenities and state-of-the-art technology that touches each and every fan entering the park.

After debuting the spectacular $84' \times 104'$ Crown Vision HD scoreboard for the 2008 season, the Royals put the finishing touches on one of the most majestic and visually exciting scoreboards in the world with a brand-new interactive crown rising about 40 feet above Crown Vision.

Upon entering through the larger and grander entrances, fans have a chance to explore the stadium via a 360-degree expanded concourse while still keeping tabs on the action on the field. An increase in both concessions and restrooms limit the time spent away from your seats.

Fans who want a field level view of the action can sit in the Crown Club, behind home plate, or in two field-level suites, located down the line from both the home and visiting dugouts.

Introduced in 2016, the Craft & Draft featuring Boulevard Brewing Company is a unique approach to the social experience of baseball located in the left field corner of The K on the Loge Level. The area replaced the former .390 Bar and Grill. The dining area provides 24 beers on tap and 50 bottled beers as well as a menu that takes a handcrafted approach to gastro pub fare with an emphasis on fresh and local ingredients.

The Outfield Experience provides the fans of Kansas City entertainment for all ages. In addition, the views of the field are spectacular and give fans several brand-new locations to take in a game. Unveiled in 2012 was the largest in-stadium solar array in MLB as part of an energy partnership with Evergy. At the time, the array was the largest in MLB. The 120 panels on the Outfield Experience canopy provide approximately 36,000 kWh of renewable energy each year.

The outfield overhaul now gives Royals fans a chance to sit and enjoy the game from a venue not previously offered. The Outfield Box seats in left-center field sit directly behind the outfield wall and in front of the world-famous fountains. Those seats hug the newly renovated Miller Lite Fountain Bar, which is built on the old JumboTron base. The expanded area offer a variety of unique amenities, including two group areas, lawn/tailgate games and photo opportunities.

In front of the fountains in left-center are the Sonic Slam seats. Right-center field offers a "standing room only" area between the outfield wall and the fountains, called the Pepsi Party Porch. This area is most popular on hot summer days and nights since, at times, they are in the "splash zone" of the iconic fountains.

The left-field area is home to the 7,000-square foot Royals Hall of Fame, presented by Commerce Bank, which opened in 2009. The Hall of Fame features numerous exciting and interactive exhibits as well as memorabilia that will delight Royals fans. Behind the Hall of Fame, fans will find the kids area complete with the Price Chopper Little K with a field turf surface. In addition, there is state-of-the-art batting and pitching cages, the New Era Cap Store, five holes of mini-golf at the Sluggerrr's Putt-Putt, a Royals-themed carousel, the base run and several kids-friendly food options, including Belfonte's Ice Cream Shop.

Also in left field is the set for the Royals' official pre- and post-game show, Royals Live on FOX Sports Kansas City. Throughout the season, broadcasters Joel Goldberg and Jeff Montgomery will host shows from this set.

Fans move along the outfield "Walk of Fame" toward Sweet Baby Rays BBQ and the Rivals restaurant in right field, which boasts Baseline Bar and the Blue Moon Taproom, which features specialty beers that can only be found at Kauffman Stadium, or at the Blue Moon Brewery in Colorado. Next to Rivals you will find the Price Chopper Patio which offers a unique view of the game for groups of 40-60 people located just above the iconic Kauffman Stadium Fountains.

The third level, or ground level of the stadium, features wider concourses, fan amenities, the Konica Minolta Diamond Club premium seating area and 5,000-square foot retail store. On the 3rd base side of the Konica Minolta Diamond Club, the Craft Cocktail Bar, presented by Kansas City's own Restless Spirits Distilling Company offers a variety of innovative and refreshing cocktails to both the Konica Minolta Diamond Club members as well as fans on the main concourse.

The Loge Level has several suite options to fit any budget while the View Level (upper deck) has been completely renovated to include wider concourses, a food court, new concessions, new restrooms and a retail store.

The new Kauffman Stadium has become a breathtaking fusion of energetic surroundings and an intimate place to watch Royals Baseball.

KAUFFMAN STADIUM HISTORY

Opened as Royals Stadium on April 10, 1973, Kauffman is recognized throughout baseball as one of the game's most beautiful ballparks. Since then, many exciting games have been contested, including the 1973 and 2012 All-Star Games, three no-hitters, playoff games in 1976, '77, '78, '80, '81, '84, '85, 2014 and '15, with 13 World Series games in 1980, 1985, 2014 and 2015. The facility was officially renamed in honor of Ewing M. Kauffman in a ceremony at the stadium on July 2, 1993.

Before the 2004 season, the outfield fences in the gaps and in straight-away center field were moved back 10 feet to their original dimensions of 387 and 410, respectively, making Kauffman Stadium one of the most spacious parks in Major League Baseball. In addition, the warning track was changed to a natural surface, and the height of the fence is now at eight feet. The fences were moved in 10 feet from bullpen to bullpen prior to the 1995 season and lowered from 12 feet to nine feet. Also at that time, a grass playing field replaced the artificial surface at Kauffman Stadium

Kauffman Stadium's unique features include a a 322-foot wide water spectacular. The water spectacular is the largest privately funded fountain in the world. In keeping with the architecture of the stadium, the existing water spectacular featuring cascading water now extends near the left field corner.

Prior to the 1999 campaign, additional field level seating, known as "Crown Seats" and four dugout suites were added.

The renaming of the stadium was appropriate in that it was the strength and integrity of Ewing M. Kauffman's ownership that provided the cornerstone for the Royals success. Kauffman purchased the club as an expansion franchise in 1968 with the primary and continuous motivation of providing winning Major League Baseball for Kansas Citians.

Kauffman, who founded Marion Laboratories in his mother's basement and built it into a diversified health care company with sales reaching nearly one billion dollars, possessed a sense of daring and an innate ability to motivate those around him. "Mr. K" also gave much personal attention to the Kansas City community, an important philosophy that was ingrained into the Royals' organization and still remains today.

Among the awards Mr. Kauffman won for his leadership include the Kansas City Press Club's 1973 Man of the Year, an induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame and being named one of 20 finalists for enshrinement in the Baseball Hall of Fame in 2008. Mr. K passed away on August 1, 1993.
